

Andrew Matthews educational background is rooted in finance and accounting and their impact on strategy and performance on a local, national and international level. Andrew holds a Bachelor of Commerce in International Business (University of Victoria), his Masters of Business Administration (Queen's) and is also a Certified Management Accountant (CMA (Alberta)). In previous lives, Andrew has worked in both residential and commercial real estate, in both sales & leasing; as a financial advisor, building a successful book of clients by utilizing a consultative approach to designing clients' investment and insurance plans and as a manager responsible for producing, delivering and reporting on all revenues and receivables for a publicly-traded, Calgary-based, IT services company. Andrew is currently the Corporate Controller for an innovative private company that provides formation evaluation solutions to the international petroleum industry. Andrew brings with him experience in the areas of finance, accounting, strategy and requirements development and implementation, as well as performance measurement and management. Andrew has broadened his experience by volunteering on and consulting to small business owners, boards of directors and steering committees in both forand not-for-profit organizations and enjoys the variety of tasks and challenges these endeavours bring. His belief is that any inherent challenges ought to be treated as opportunities to learn and grow. Mr. Matthews attributes much of his tenacity, leadership and team-based approach to many years of playing and coaching high-level, competitive soccer and rugby. In his spare time, Andrew enjoys playing sports, spending time with family and friends and playing and listening to a wide variety of music.

(prevention + support + advocacy)